Airport Debentures To be Advertised

The proposed airport -- industrial complex north of town was again the subject of considerable discussion at last Thursday's regular meeting of Town Council.

After hearing Industrial Development Coordinator Don Vanstone, Town Engineer Bill Tuttle and former mayor Tom Johnson, council engaged in a lengthy discussion with most members in favor of letting property owners decide the issue.

Accordingly, it was decided to advertise debenture borrowing. If five percent of ratepayers indicate opposition a plebiscite is held, otherwise the project would go ahead if Department of Transport approval is received. Mayor Lloyd MacLean and Councillor Bob Huber registered negative notes.

Allowing for advertising and legislative regulations, a plebiscite would be held in early January, if required by ratepayers.

Pulp Mill Agreement to Expire?

WHITECOURT -- A recent comment by Hon. James Henderson, Alberta Minister of Health, temporarily deflated hopes of MacMillan - Bloedel Ltd. getting started on their long awaited pulp mill at Whitecourt according to a news story in a recent issue of the Whitecourt Star.

He said no communication has been received from MacMillan - Bloedel for some time and forecasts that the agreement with the company would probably expire when the deadline is reached on December 31st this year.

Use for Empty Bottles

TORONTO -- A residential street in Metro Toronto has been paved with broken glass, according to Heavy Construction News. More accurately, the street has become a test-strip for a new type of asphaltic concrete pavement, in which conventional crushed stone is replaced by crushed glass as the pavement aggregate.

Over 100 tons of this experimental mix, known as glasphalt, has been laid along a 200-yard 26-foot wide strip on a suburban subdivision road. It is the first placement on a public roadway of a pavement mix designed to use artificial aggregate made from waste glass bottles.

What's Ahead for Alberta?

What lies ahead for Alberta in the next ten years? What will life be like here in the year of Alberta's centennial? Is it possible to predict the future of the province with a reasonable degree of accuracy?

If it is possible, can this foreknowledge be used to deliberately shape the future, rather than waiting passively on the sidelines for the future to shape itself? These and other questions will be examined at a congress on the future to be held in Edmonton at the Macdonald Hotel from December 3 to December 5.

Jointly sponsored by the Alberta Commission on Educational Planning, and the Alberta Human Resources Research Council, the congress will consider education in Alberta against a background of future forecasts.

Leduc Council Buys Downtown Land

LEDUC -- The Leduc Representative reports that town council there has entered into an agreement to purchase 1.96 acres of main street property for $40,000, which will probably be used as a site for civic buildings. The 44,000 square foot plot surrounds a piece of land purchased by the town last spring.

Report from the Legislature

By Don Sellar and Kevin Peterson

Alberta's two major political parties are pulling major rural industrialization programs out of their respective bags of election pledges.

No sooner had Opposition Conservative leader Peter Lougheed called for a $50 million boost to rural economic development recently than Premier Harry Strom was promising a Social Credit plan for aiding areas outside the major cities.

Both party leaders say increased industrial development in smaller centres of the province is the key to expanding economic horizons and stimulating new life in rural areas which feel the pinch of urbanization.

Politically, Mr. Lougheed claims he can stimulate rural growth faster than Mr. Strom can. The 42-year old Tory leader attacks the government's "myth of performance" in industrial and tourist promotion and describes its record as "dismal and riddled with disasters."

But the Social Credit leader counters this with statistics showing that in the first 10 months of 1970, the Alberta Commercial Corporation has approved loans totalling more than $4 million for industrial expansion.

In addition, he says the government is developing a program which will guarantee loans to manufacturing firms interested in building new or expanded plants in towns with fewer than 40,000 residents.

"We are looking for a program that is good and substantial and can be defended," Mr. Strom told an Edmonton news conference recently. He stressed Alberta is not interested in making outright grants to private enterprise but will guarantee loans to businessmen.

What has forced the government's hand is widespread competition among rich and poor provinces for new industry -- competition which has led other provinces into costly benefit schemes often labelled as government give-aways.

The federal government already is backing enterprises in a narrow strip of southern Alberta and in the Lesser Slave Lake region with grants to a maximum of $12 million under its Area Incentives Program. The program's success still awaits evaluation.

The new provincial program will be geared both toward luring new industry to Alberta and providing centres currently ineligible for federal aid with a helping hand.

Both the Tories and the Social Credit are seeking to assist small and medium-sized businesses to the tune of $300,000 to $500,000 per project.

In Mr. Lougheed's opinion, voters will assess the government's performance in industry and tourism by looking at backward conditions in rural areas rather than by examining specific government aid plans.

The Conservative leader said at his party's Lethbridge policy conference on rural industrialization he doesn't think decentralization will come at the expense of urban growth.

"I'd much rather be on the side of effectively stimulating growth in other areas, instead of slowing down development in Calgary and Edmonton," he told reporters at a news conference.

Mr. Lougheed counters proponents of the "no-growth" economy by saying, "Everybody wants to be gainfully employed. Very few people want to be on welfare. We are going to a situation where there are ever-larger farms and increasing technological development, and then smaller communities get into trouble."

One thing is certain: Residents of smaller centres will be waiting this winter for the politicians to draft specific blueprints to explain their often-vague pronouncements concerning steps to stimulate decentralized growth in Alberta.

Report From Parliament Hill

By Allen Sulatycky, M.P.

PASSIONATE POLITICS

Few issues have caught the emotions of Canadians the way the present political division over the use of War Measures has. From coast to coast reports are still drifting in about lifelong supporters of one political party or another who are changing allegiances.

Many people report that they saw a new dimension to the leadership qualities of the Prime Minister that they had never recognized before. To this I've two reactions. Firstly what we see depends on what we look for. The present climate has changed caustic critics into sympathetic listeners. Secondly, there was nothing revealed by the Prime Minister or his key Cabinet members, during their national statements on T.V. and radio which those of who work in the Government Caucus haven't seen week after week for more than two years.

Which reminds me again of the blunt fact that it is a great tragedy that every Canadian couldn't have the privilege of observing even a single session of National Caucus. It would create both a surge of pride in being a Canadian and a courageous confidence in our country.

But in a time of mass media all important persons are "served up" in a special style to the masses. In the present F.L.Q. crisis the T.V. producers could not contain the image of the Prime Minister in their previous moulds so much more of the real man spilled out across the nation.

Regardless of how you personally may feel about the issue of War Measures and the new law to replace them, the pandora's box has been opened a little more and those of us who have the privilege to work with Pierre Elliott Trudeau are very glad that a larger proportion of Canadians now sense the kind of human, sensitive, intelligent and courageous man we have leading our beloved Canada.

The crucial factor is that governments are as strong or as weak as is the leader's ability to establish a team, to select a capable cabinet and delegate responsibility. Since this is a kind of "Bouquet-handing-out" column I want to say how impressed we have all been with the two cabinet ministers (both from Eastern Ontario) who along with the Prime Minister are bearing the majority of the burden of governing our nation in this national crisis. They are the Hon. George McIlraith (M.P. for Ottawa Centre) who is Canada's Solicitor General and therefore the head of the national police and the Hon. John Turner (M.P. for Ottawa-Carleton) who is Minister of Justice. These men have done a magnificent job in a tough situation. Of them all Canadians ought to be justly proud.

Mr. Sulatycky is representing Canada at the Annual NATO Assembly. In his absence this report has been provided by Murray McBride, M.P. for Lanark-Renfrew-Carleton.

"Looks like you're going to the showers . . . don't use up all the hot water."

Editorial Comment

A Pause to Remember

How many of the thousands who enjoyed a holiday November 11th paused to remember?

We know that the few made their annual visit to memorial services while others remembered in their own way and place. But for many thousands it was a great opportunity to get in some hunting or attend a football game with very little, if any consideration of the reason for the day off work.

As children we observed Armistice Day in school with two minutes silence at 11:00 a.m., accompanied by the booming of field guns on the Legislative grounds. This was twenty or more years after the First World War, and without the benefit of a holiday, we understood and remembered.

Enjoying a holiday on November 11th (declared sometime around the end of the Second World War) appears to have detracted from the solemn observance of remembrance rather than increase awareness of the significance of the day.

Abandoned Refrigerators a Menace

Abandoned or disused refrigerators, freezers and ice boxes continue to take a toll of children's lives despite the appliance industry's efforts to protect them from the dangers of suffocation.

For a number of years, all Canadian-built refrigerators and freezers have been equipped with a safety door that can be quickly 'pressure released' from the inside. Many house-holders, however, may not realize the dangers involved--and simply move the old unit to the basement, back porch, or cottage, intending perhaps to find another use for it in the future. A few haul the old unit to a dump.

To children playing in any of these areas, an old refrigerator or freezer is a wonderful find - but it is potentially deadly unless the door has been removed.

If removing the door is not feasible, house-holders are urged to block the door open permanently, or chain it shut, in a way that children will not be able to operate the door.

Piggish TV Commercials

It must be rather discouraging to parents attempting to teach young children table manners to watch the hog-like actions of TV commercial players in their vivid portrayal of the delicious qualities of the sponsor's food.

One boy crams half a waffle in his mouth while another stuffs his mouth with pudding letting half of it slop out over his clothes. It's doubtful they'll sell many pudding mixes with this display of crudeness.

SNOW VEHICLES FOR HUNTING

A reminder about the use of snow vehicles for hunting was issued recently by officials of the Department of Lands and Forests.

With the increasing amount of snow in the subalpine areas, persons interested in using snow vehicles for the purpose of hunting are reminded that the use of snow vehicles for hunting in Wildlife Management Units S400-446 is prohibited between the hours of 12 midnight and noon each day.

The purpose of the regulation is to provide maximum quality recreation during the early morning hunting hours and still allow the snow vehicle user to utilize his machine during the afternoon and evening hours to set up camp or bring out game.

The "S" units are located in the mountain and foothill areas of the province and any person using a snow vehicle for hunting in these areas should check his Game Summary carefully or contact a Fish and Wildlife office.

Ever notice how as things get smaller, the price gets bigger? And the most expensive way to celebrate your wife's birthday is to not get her anything at all.

ALBERTA IN ACTION

UTILIZING OUR RESOURCES

Expansion by boosting industry

New industries are launched and existing business operations are helped to a profitable level through the professional guidance and the financial aid programs of the Alberta Commercial Corporation. The objective of this Crown Corporation is the strengthening of the secondary industry base within the province. To accomplish this, a program of financial assistance and business management counseling is focused on the manufacturing level. Specific emphasis is placed on small manufacturing operations. As an assistance program it tends to supplement conventional sources of funds and give guidance where this is not otherwise present.

Through its flexibility, its skilled people and its availability of funds, the program today serves a much broader need than it did when first instituted in the 1930's. It was the first scheme of its kind in Canada.

By actually buying and storing raw or finished inventory, A.C.C. often provides the difference between success or failure to growing operations which get the benefit of savings through bulk buying and avoid holdups for lack of materials. Stockpiling of finished goods is also facilitated.

To promote new installations and encourage expansion, financial aid is also available for equipment as well as land and buildings. The company's affairs are treated in confidence and guidance is given free of charge. The company pays only a moderate rate of interest against funds advanced.

Sewage control to curb pollution

Among the many necessary measures in narrowing the gap between pollution prevention and control undertaken by the Department of Health, is the active supervision of all municipal sewage collection, treatment, and disposal systems in Alberta. The wide-ranging task-force carrying out anti-pollution work in this particular area is the division of Environmental Health Services. A major milestone is now in view.

Only a few remaining links need finishing to complete a broad network of modern sewage treatment plants throughout the province. The individual jobs, all scheduled for completion early in the coming year, will mean that all municipalities, including every city and town with a sewage system, will have proper treatment facilities installed to help prevent pollution of Alberta rivers and streams. In line with this major program is the responsibility for ensuring that all systems are effectively operated and maintained. A continuing monitoring process is involved. A course for plant operators is conducted by the division, along with voluntary registration and certification of operators. Over 180 communities have had their operators attend the course.

New anti-pollution moves made

Armed with a broadened operating scope and a hard-nosed attitude reflecting public concern over the effects of pollution on the ecological balance in Alberta, field staff of the Oil and Gas Conservation Board are carrying out a crash program of inspection involving virtually every oil and gas installation in the province. The over-all powers of the Board were increased, early in July of this year, to include control of pollution in field and plant operations of the oil industry.

Acting through regional offices located in four centres throughout the province, the board's supervisory staff are enforcing regulations pertaining to control of air pollution, control of soil and surface water pollution from drilling and production operations, the protection of fresh underground water, and protection from pollution in general from gas processing plants. Established in 1938, the Board's main function is to ensure the maximum oil and gas recovery from pools throughout the province. Area offices are located at Edmonton, Red Deer, Black Diamond, and with head offices at 603 Sixth Avenue S.W., Calgary.

Crop lures to prevent damage

The Fish and Wildlife Division has completed the first phase of a three-year program to study various lure crop techniques designed to control depredation to cereal crops by waterfowl. This study, the only one of its kind in Canada, was undertaken by the Division after extensive study of crop damage patterns attributed to waterfowl.

Working with the Department of Agriculture, the Federal Government, and Ducks Unlimited, this unique lure crop program is currently confined to the Grande Prairie and Beaverhill Lake areas - directly in the flight path of the migrating birds. By feeding the ducks from prepared field lures and bait stations, a controlled number-and-species count can be made. It is hoped a significant lowering of crop damage will be achieved, as the well-fed birds proceed southbound. At one bait station over 4,000 bushels of barley was spread on the ground.

The Division also has a three-year study program underway in the Cold Lake area, to find out the type and age group of bears doing damage not only to livestock but to beehives. As many as 200 black bears have been collared with tiny transistor radio units and their movements are being traced by air observers. It is hoped that information received from this study may be used in the future to assist in the control of predation caused by black bears.

Wabamun woods task force target

The preservation of Lake Wabamun as a major recreation resource is the objective of a task force appointed by the Conservation and Utilization Committee of the Alberta government. Using the most sophisticated scientific methods, the force is seeking the cause of last summer's increased weed growth in order to recommend methods of control.

The committee is charged with advising on the care of Alberta's environment, including the conservation, management, and utilization of natural resources; prevention and control of their pollution, and their preservation for aesthetic purposes. An inter-departmental committee, its members are drawn from the Alberta Departments of Agriculture, Health, Highways and Transport, Industry and Tourism, Lands and Forests, Mines and Minerals, and Municipal Affairs, as well as from the Oil and Gas Conservation Board. Co-operation among departmental representatives enables the committee to act quickly and decisively to establish programs designed to preserve and protect Alberta's natural resources.

River basins studied in new approach

By relating water and its use to the total resource base of the province, the Water Resources Division of the Department of Agriculture is today working on two of the most imaginative and comprehensive studies ever undertaken by the government department. The approach is a co-ordinated move, guided by a full inter-departmental committee including all government agencies concerned with both physical and human resources. Outside agencies with specific interests in the projects are also involved.

The overall studies, made up from many contributing sources and services, are keyed to broad-bounded river basins. Each is programmed to focus squarely on the region's socio-economic needs. A complete inventory is taken of all resources within the watershed. The study further identifies all projects and alternatives needed along the system to meet trends within the specific basin. Input and output data is gathered to determine cost ratios, and an eventual dollar value is attached to developments. The two current studies involve the South Saskatchewan River and the Sturgeon River basins. The concept can be applied to any drainage basin in future development planning.

Airport Questions Answered

By Don Vanstone, Industrial Development Co-ordinator

At the public meeting held November 5th, assurance was given that all questions not answered at that time would be researched and the answers given in the newspaper.

One question was based on the discrepancy between the financial projections of the Town Engineer and the cost analysis of the airport committee. The discrepancy occurs due to a difference in concept. The town engineer apparently based his figures of expenditure on a completed complex offering full services, while using the projected revenue from the initial year of operation which is based on two tenants. The airport committee contends the industrial area should be developed only as the demand for services is required, projections are based on minimal revenue and minimal expenditures that can reasonably be expected for the first year's operation.

The Town engineer estimated $5,000.00 road cost and $1000. annual maintenance. The airport committee does not plan to build any roads (other than those paid for by the Department of Transport) until such time required.

A water well driller estimated $1700.00 for a well 160' deep. The town engineer estimates a more complex system costing $5,000.00.

The airport committee did not consider sewage disposal as a town cost but recommends to council that the installation of septic tanks be the cost of the tenant. The Town Engineer estimates $52,000.00 with an annual maintenance of $2500.00.

The Town Engineer estimates snow removal and summer maintenance at $6,000.00 and capital expenditures of $5,000.00 (airport share of town grader). The airport committee has a contract for snow removal for $2,000.00 per year.

Items mentioned by the Town Engineer but not projected for cost are clearing and developing land, terminal building, county taxes, gas pump costs, surveyors fees, airstrip extension cost, insurance, fire protection and managers costs.

The airport committee recommends industrial sites be prepared as tenants become available, accrued costs to be passed on to the tenant. A terminal is not immediately necessary. (Facilities are available in Galaxie's hanger). County taxes are a negotiable item. Gas pump costs are estimated to be $1000.00. Surveyors fees are paid by the Department of Transport for all runway work as the costs of building the runway extension. Present town insurance covers the airport site in similar manner as other town properties. The town volunteer fire department is adequate under the airport operations policy. The managers costs are based on gas sales commissions.

Full cost estimates for debenture purposes have been given to council on the basis of:

Land Costs (U.S. funds where necessary) .....	$46,000.
Power line re-route .....	$ 3,000.
Flow line re-route.....	$30,000.
Pipe line sleeves.....	$ 500.
Power Line installation$	1,000.
Water well .....	$ 1,700.
Apron to hanger # 1 .....	$ 1,000.
Fire extinguisher.....	$ 110.
Fuel pumps, tanks and filtering.....	$ 1,000.
Brushing, if and as required.....	$ 1,000.

All prices estimated by contractors or suppliers.

The airport committee recognizes the value of the points raised by the town engineer and includes extra money in the debenture to cover contingencies such as well testing, pump house, inflated costs etc.

Contingency costs -- $6,490.00

Debenture -- $65,000.00

A question was asked concerning changes in airport policy that would render obsolete semi-directional airports and the necessity of installing electronic aids to navigation.

Department of Transport officials were contacted for an answer. There is no change in policy foreseen for developments such as ours. The proof being that D.O.T.

would not invest large amounts of money in such developments if a change in policy was anticipated. In the matter of electronic aids, all such equipment is installed and staffed at government expense, when the volume of traffic warrants the expenditure.

A more complete answer was asked for the question of a definition of "adequate fire fighting protection" as laid out in airport policy.

The Department of Transport also answered this question by stressing the unlikelihood of any small airport justifying the capital investment required to buy a "crash truck-fire-rescue unit". The local fire department is quite acceptable when complemented by on-site fire extinguishers in the various places of business. The debenture provides for one 30 lb. dry chemical extinguisher to be mounted in the proximity of the fuel pumps.

As far as "adequate first aid equipment" is concerned, the airport committee were advised that first aid kits of a commercial or industrial nature, located in the places of business, were all that was required.

F.W.U.A. Working on Christmas Project

Further discussion was held on our "Giant Christmas Card". A heading was decided on. The receipt books were distributed and our members will be calling on the Tomahawk residents during the month of November.

It was decided to continue to send a small Christmas gift to each of our local residents who are patients in Oliver.

The roll-call for our December meeting will be a Christmas gift sent to the retarded children at Red Deer. The meeting will be held at Eunice Pryor's.

Eunice Pryor will have Greta Pryor, Mary Peskunowicz, Lena Zaniewicz and Velda Jouan as her co-hostesses. Each member may bring a guest if they like.

The election of officers was tabled until the January meeting.

Our meeting was quite short as Olive Case gave us an interesting demonstration on re-upholstering an arm chair. She was assisted by Ruth Dunbar. The members and guests greatly enjoyed this.

The meeting concluded with a lunch served by the co-hostesses Kate and Marcia Zutz.

Hope to see all members at our Christmas meeting.

Stony Plain also fell to the Warriors attack two games straight, 15 - 11 and 15 - 11. The game between the two Drayton teams resulted in another two game straight win for the North Central team. The North Central Warriors final game was against Thorsby and they rounded out their perfect score by conquering the Thorsby team two games straight, with scores of 15 - 3 in both games.

The Pembina Warriors lost their first match to Thorsby two straight games. They also lost their match against the North Central Warriors two games straight. The Pembina Warriors won their next match against Seba with scores of 15 - 1; Drayton; 15 - 11, Seba; and 15 - 5 for Drayton. The North Central Warriorettes won their first match against the Pembina Warriorettes two games straight. They lost their second match to Stony Plain with scores of 15 - 5 for Stony, 15 - 4 for Drayton and 15 - 6 for Stony. They won their match against Seba two games straight 15 - 5 and 15 - 3. Good luck to the Warriors in the zones at Fort Saskatchewan next weekend.

On Saturday, November 7th, Thorsby was the site of a volleyball tournament. F.M.H.S. was represented by both boys and girls junior teams.

The junior girls took their first match against Winfield, two games straight, with scores of 16-14 and 15-8. They lost their next match to Thorsby with scores of 15-9 and 15-7.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The past week has been a busy one at the Junior High. The Huskies and Oopniks competed in the Annual St. Anthony's volleyball tournament and students from our school were involved in a Drama Clinic.

The Huskies came out on top at the St. Anthony's tournament by defeating St. Anthony's and Warburg Junior High. The Oopniks put up a good battle but could only come up with a third place finish.

The Drayton Valley Junior High School in conjunction with the Cultural Branch of the Provincial Government sponsored a Drama Clinic. Instructors from Edmonton were Mr. Robin Carson, who taught stage set and design and Mrs. Jenny Diment, of CFRN-TV, who instructed two sessions on make-up.

Taking part were students from Drayton Valley Junior High, Frank Maddock High School and Devon Junior High under the direction of Mr. Paul Bradley, Drayton Valley Junior High School Drama Instructor.

The technical theater group spent a great deal of time on the practical work of building flats. These will be used in the grade nine production of "Listen Dad" that will be presented to local residents in the near future. Tom Sharkey is in charge of the completion of "flat building" for the production.

The grade nine Drama Class is also working on a second play, a contemporary selection by Mary Weber entitled, "The World Tipped Over and Is Laying On Its Side". The director of these two productions is Mr. Paul Bradley and the technical director, Mr. Joe Gudz.

The cast for the contemporary drama production is Heather McKenzie, Debbie Holman, Barry Sommers and Robert Smith. The grade nine group plans to enter these two plays in provincial competition and in a local Drama Festival planned for next spring.

The grade seven drama group is working on short, light one-act skits as an introduction to drama. Doing good work at this level at this time is Dale Schwab and Dale-Ellen Cartwright, along with others.

The teachers are busy getting marks ready for the first report which will be sent out on November 20. Parent-teacher interviews will be held on Thursday, November 26th. This will be conducted during the school day and therefore the students will be given a holiday.

Students will be bringing home an information sheet on Parent-Teacher interviews next week, concerning time and what teachers you would like to see. The teachers are looking forward to meeting the parents

SUB-MITS

FROM THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

There are many hidden talents among our teachers. When I asked Miss Lesley Batten (Grade one) for a life history, I received it in verse. Here it is for your appreciation:

Miss Lesley Jean Batten--

A poetic history
Would be easier to do
If, instead of a twenty

I was ninety-two.

Except for six months

Spent in Oklahoma

I have lived all my life

In sunny Alberta.

Edmonton born, on to Stettler and Red Deer.

I moved to Calgary

To begin school in first year.

I spent grades 1 to 12

In the Calgary system

And after three years

There's the odd time I've missed

'em.

I tried the usual routines

Badminton, swimming and skating

Music and tap, but, finally

Only swimming was rating.

When I reached Senior High

School

Swimming was too time consuming

So I switched over to curling

Which was much less presuming

In my first year Education

At the U in Edmonton

I spent less time in classes

Than the office of Pillington

To test out my desires

To teach the mentally retarded

I taught the next year in Calgary

At a school highly regarded.

During this teaching year I took skating lessons.

It used up my free hours

And relieved mental tensions.

Since I had decided

On my life's vocation

I returned to Edmonton

For third year Education.

Over my head summer was looming.

So I was off to a town

That was really booming.

Teaching grade one

In a town called Grande Cashe

I made my beginning

And collected by cash.

In September my year

In Drayton began

And I promise to do

The best that I can.

Emmaus Lutheran Church Setting for Fall Wedding

Large baskets of white and yellow mums with pink gladiola and small baskets of pink sweetheart roses and white button mums graced the Emmaus Lutheran Church, Saturday, September 5, 1970 for the wedding of Miss Dianne Faye Litzenberger and Mr. Howard Joseph Baker of Dayton Valley. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Litzenberger of Edson, Alberta and the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isador Baker were united in marriage with Rev. Dale Mohr officiating. Mrs. Naomi Schneider played the wedding music and Mrs. Lyla Sleno sang "A Wedding Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a white organza gown in an empire waistline style. Lace daisies trimmed the waistline, neckline, hem and long sleeves. The train, which fell gracefully from the center back was also trimmed with daisies. The shoulder-length veil was held in place by a head piece of tiny lilies of the Valley. The bride's only jewellery was a pearl drop necklace, a gift from the groom and she carried pink roses with white stephanotis and white velvet ribbon.

Attending the bride was Mrs. Linda Maik and Mrs. Eleanor Baker in pale pink and Miss Eileen Baker and Mrs. Darlene Litzenberger in pale yellow. The gowns of lace were sleeveless with round necklines and featured a back panel which fell gently from the neckline to the floor.

They wore elbow length white gloves, pearl drop necklaces and carried white rose bouquets. White tiaras adorned their hair.

Best man was Mr. Al Maik and ushering the guests were Mr. Wally Janzen and Mr. Howie Janzen Jr.

Following the wedding a reception and dance were held in the Elks Hall. The bride's table was centered by a three-tiered cake decorated with pink roses and flanked by pink candles and baskets of pink sweetheart roses and white button mums.

Mr. Allan Malloy was master of ceremonies for the evening. Toast to the bride was made by Mr. Howie Janzen Sr., and Mr. Gary Janzen toasted the bride's attendants.

Mrs. Litzenberger chose a turquoise green chiffon dress complimented by white accessories and corsage of pink sweetheart roses. Mrs. Baker wore a pink lace dress with matching hat and white gloves and shoes and white sweetheart roses corsage.

For her wedding trip to Hawaii the bride changed into a purple and white coat and dress ensemble with white accessories complimented by a mauve orchid.

The young couple have made their home in Dayton Valley.

Agricultural Conference

OTTAWA -- The two day National Agricultural Outlook Conference opens in Ottawa on Monday, November 23, at the Government Conference Centre.

About 300 delegates from farm organizations, agribusiness, and the federal and provincial governments will attend.

The main emphasis in all commodity discussions this year will be on the implications of the outlook.

The opening session will discuss the general economic situation in Canada and developments in international trade affecting Canadian agriculture.

Remembrance Day was observed in Warburg as a capacity crowd gathered in the Warburg Community Hall to honor the memory of those who gave their lives in the service of their country and the cause of freedom.

The service was under the chairmanship of Comrade M. Hooks, past president of the Royal Canadian Legion and the audience welcomed by the Mayor of Warburg, A. Broadbent.

The service opened by singing O'Canada, at 11:00 a.m., the solemn notes of the "Last Post" brought the audience to their feet for 2 minutes of silence. This was followed by "Reveille".

Escorted by two Legion members, Mrs. Wm. Lehay laid a memorial cross at the foot of the alter of sacrifice in memory of her husband Mr. Wm. Lehay.

A prayer was then offered by Rev. John Palmer, followed by a scripture reading. Mrs. Gwen Hooks then gave a lovely solo, "Brighten the Corner".

An address was given by Rev. Palmer.

The Warburg Legion wish to thank Mayor Broadbent, Rev. John Palmer, Mrs. Gwen Hooks, and pianist Mrs. Gutzl, trumpeter Marion Rose and all who contributed to the service.

After the service at Warburg a motorcade drove to Breton Centre for a service which was held in memory of fallen Comrades of Breton. The service was conducted by Comrade Jim Saunders, and Comrade Percy Seal. Those laying wreaths were Comrade Tom Bevan on behalf of first and second World War Veterans, Mrs. Rose Saunders on behalf of the Auxiliary and her father and Mrs. Dawn Lee on behalf of the 1st Battalion which her husband served in.

The Annual Armistice dinner was served to a capacity crowd by the Warburg Legion Auxiliary No. 205.

The Legion Auxiliary would also like to thank everyone who helped and contributed. It was greatly appreciated.

Winners of the Auxiliary draw on November 11 were E. Watherpoon, first and third prize and Alvin Ellis second prize.

FULL STEAM UP FOR CANCER DRIVE

Steam enthusiast Clarence Coons, a New Holland farm equipment dealer at Lakefield, Ontario, has found a way to combine fun and public service. Each summer he operates an event billed as "Lakefield Steam Days" for the benefit of the Canadian Cancer Society.

An excellent crowd turned out for this year's event which featured Sawyer Massey, George White and Reeves steamers belted to a saw mill, a shingle mill and turn-of-the-century New Favorite thresher. Antique automobile buffs from the Peterborough area joined the show with their restored cars, and other participants showed a Bell steamer, a Rumley Oil Pull, a Waterloo Boy and a century-old hay wagon.

One of the engines displayed was the last Sawyer Massey built. It was completed in 1926 but not sold until 1932 when it went for $400 along with a one-year guarantee. Coons also displayed modern farm machinery so folks could compare the old and new methods of handling the tough work on the farm.

Governor adjustment was simpler when threshing power was supplied by steam. Fly-ball governor weights, above, kept the engine speed constant in spite of their exposed position. The thresherman's pump oiler, below, handled lubrication for grain threshers before safety shielding for moving parts became legally mandatory.

It's largely a lost art today, but sighting across the flywheel is still the way to line up an engine with the thresher, above. On windy days, old timers jacked the front of the steamer side-ways, out of alignment, to compensate for the wind's push on a long threshing belt. The George White was shown at the Lakefield event by its owners, Charles Robert and William Wood of Peterborough and Uxbridge, Ontario.

The whirr of the engines and howl of saws plus the aroma of the fresh raw wood made the Lakefield Steam Days event a pleasant experience for the audience. Above, the Sawyer Massey saws shingles while the old George White powers a lumber saw mill. Below, 1926 meets 1970 as the last Sawyer Massey steamer built passes a New Holland mower-conditioner, one of today's most popular haying machines.

D. V. Highlights

By Mrs. Edith Debey

From time to time one hears of rather unusual pets that people have acquired. Crows, magpies, deer, coyotes and bear are some of the wild creatures that I have known to be made quite tame. One lady told me she had a tame skunk and had kept it around for some years without the distressing consequences one might expect. Recently Mr. Henry Dunington adopted a weasel or perhaps it would be more accurate to say that he has been adopted by the weasel. The rodent simply walked into the house and made himself at home. He is now tame enough to be fed from his new master's hand. During daylight hours he prefers to stay out of sight and his favorite nest is in the pan drawer under the stove. Do watch it, Mr. Dunington. If that weasel is made too comfortable he may invite all his relatives to come and share his quarters and there will be no room for you.

Congratulations to Martin and Shirley Urchishyn on the arrival of their son, Craig Martin, a brother for Jody.

On Saturday evening the fortnightly whist parties got under way at Dunington Hall. Winners for the evening were Mrs. John Mikulin and Mr. Albert Grinde. Mrs. Calvin Bartlett and Mr. John Mikulin received consolation prizes. On November 28th there will be a dance instead of whist.

Miss Valerie Getzinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Getzinger, has been in the Royal Alexandra Hospital in Edmonton for the past month. She was well enough to come home for a short time on the weekend to join in the celebration for her parent's wedding anniversary and her father's birthday. Valerie returned to the hospital on Sunday evening for an indefinite stay and she will be most happy to see any of her friends who are able to call when they are in the city. Very best get well wishes from all your friends here, Valerie.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Cecil Halliday passed away suddenly last week. Mr. Halliday has been in failing health for some time and is in critical condition in hospital. The Hallidays have two children, a married daughter living in England and Graeme who received much of his grade school education in Drayton Valley. Graeme is married, with three children. He lives at Lac La Biche.

Mr. Earl Thompson has sold his sporting goods store in Grande Prairie to Mr. Fred Reynolds and will return to Drayton Valley. We understand that Mr. Thompson is interested in having a gun smith shop.

CARNWOOD NEWS

The Community would like to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fells and family. They are residing on the Jorgensens farm.

Deepest sympathy is extended to the Ladouceur family and Mr. Eli Myles and family on the death of brother and step father, Mr. Buster Ladouceur of B.C.

Mr. J. Small of Radway was visiting friends in the district on November 11th. Mr. Small used to teach school at Carnwood.

Const. and Mrs. Roger Baker of Vegreville were visiting at the home of Mrs. Baker's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Heslop and family.

Miss Kathy Hankins was visiting at the home of her father and sister Mr. Wm. Hankins and Elaine.

Get well wishes go out to Mr. John Veldhouse who is a patient in the Edmonton General Hospital.

Warriors Prepare For New Season

Under the guidance this year of Terry Rockwell, the Frank Maddock High School basketball team, which was formed last season, is practising hard in preparation for a very busy season.

The always good and strong Pembina League has expanded this season with the addition of Calmar and Devon High Schools, bringing the teams to seven in number.

Interest in this club has greatly increased this season and approximately seventeen hopefuls are trying for a position with the team. Among these are Danny Wickland, Ken Mulyk, Perry Mohn, Ian McLean, Norm Jeyne, Wilf Zorn, David Zorn, Hal Smith, David Dusterhoff, Jeff Wardlow, Bill Donovan, Norm Tucker and Gavin Ibbotson and others.

The club will probably play an exhibition contest November 20th before moving into a heavy schedule Wednesday, November 25th against Breton in Breton. On November 27th the team will travel to Calmar.

Favored this season are the Thorsby five and they are expected to be pushed hard by Warburg and Devon. In their second season the Warrior Drayton crew are looking for an at least fourth place finish. Win or lose, the club is going to add color to the league.

The Pembina Warrior sister team, the Warriorettes will begin practice this weekend. A report on the club will appear at a later date.

Edges on the Figure Eight

The figure skating club is buzzing with sounds of competitions. There are figures to perfect, jumps, spins and dances to smooth out before the big day arrives.

The Northern Alberta sub-sectional competition will be held here December 5th and 6th. There will be many "home-town" entries. For many of our local skaters it will be their first competition. Events will run for two days.

Advance admission tickets are on sale for those who would like to come down to the arena and watch the skaters. An adult all-events ticket sells for $2.00 and a one-day ticket is $1.50. Student prices are $1.25 and 75¢.

While more advanced students prepare for competitions the beginners are working on the more fundamental movements of skating. These skaters are taught in group classes in accordance with the National Skating Test program. The group classes are an important part of the skating club as they contain the interested and talented pupils who will later become the competitive skaters.

The National Tests are arranged in order of difficulty. When completed, the skater will find the CSFA program very easy to slide into.

"Christmas Now! Anybody Care?" is the theme of the CGIT National Christmas Vesper Services to be held in churches across Canada by Canadian Girls in Training during the month of December.

The services, which are planned and conducted by the girls themselves, have been held throughout Canada every Christmas since 1940. This year the candlelighting service will see girls lighting four candles, to combat prejudice and misunderstanding, need and strife, and to focus on individual needs -- for love, friendship, and "Knowing we are needed in our homes and communities".

P.C.'s Discuss Development

A $50 million Industrial Development Fund for rural Alberta, a detailed incentive plan contingent on community involvement, positive provincial-federal relations, and a promise to stimulate the over-all provincial economic balance without taking industry out of established areas was the program outlined by Peter Lougheed in Lethbridge recently.

Ten Progressive Conservative M.L.A.'s and many nominated candidates were among the 125 delegates voicing opinions during the two day workshop of rural industrialization. Attending from Drayton Valley Constituency was P.C. candidate, Mr. Randy Zander of Tomahawk.

PARKCOURT NEWS

Mrs. Delbert Farrell is spending a week in Sangudo looking after her three grandchildren while her daughter and son-in-law are in B.C. While she was gone Delbert held a Stag party. The men enjoyed the evening and particularly the pancake supper at midnight.

The Gay Gatherers held their regular meeting a week early at the home of Mrs. Joan Young. Plans for a Sunday community dinner to be held on the 22nd were made. Club members as usual will provide and serve the meal which will be a pot luck dinner beginning at 12:30. In spite of the dense fog the meeting was well attended with the hostess prize going to Mrs. Elaine Greenwood.

Due to the power failure the men did not hold their meeting on Thursday night.

FOOD FOR TWO

Probably the most valuable aquatic food plant for waterfowl is the widely distributed sago pond-weed (Potamogeton pectinatus). Tubers, seeds and leaves are consumed by ducks. A mallard is shown feeding on the seeds on the surface of the water, while a lesser scaup pulls up the tubers from the mud bottom. Ducks Unlimited has carried out successful plantings of sago pond-weed on newly created projects.
